

Carolyn Egeli was born on Glebe Farm in Valley Lee, Maryland. She and her four older siblings grew up surrounded by art. Her parents were both award-winning students of the Corcoran of Washington, DC. Carolyn's father, Bjorn Egeli, noted portrait painter and marine artist, trained her in art throughout her early development. After high school she attended Moore College of Art in Philadelphia and then began earning a living as an artist – painting both portraits and landscapes. She has developed a national and international audience throughout her lifetime and is noted as being in the top five percent in quality in the world. Carolyn continues to live and paint at Glebe Farm.

Carolyn Egeli is very generously assisting the Chesapeake Public Charter School in our fundraising efforts, and the Chesapeake Charter School Alliance is selling signed prints of this beautiful painting. The fair market value of this painting is over $10,000.

Ten signed prints (unframed) will be available in each of two sizes:

18"x24" for $200

If you would like to order a print, please fill out the bottom portion and return it with your payment in a sealed envelope marked Attn: Julia Nichols to the school's main office by May 22nd. Feel free to pass this along to others. We will also have ten giclees (24"x32") made to give to donors making donations of $2,500 or more in a fiscal year.
