| • Budget review with MSDE was completed and all went well. There is a quiet a bit of extra money in year 2 because the money showed up late after the grant was awarded.
  o This extra money is tied to the kitchen equipment that has yet to be purchased.
  o Put money toward the social and emotional coach and going to start educating parents on that tonight at town hall.
• As part of the review, the school was contacted by Westhall - a think tank, to work with the school to create a video on what CPCS does to start sharing with other charter schools.
• National Charter School organization would like to recognize CPCS and are working with the president of the Maryland Charter School chapter to work with local politicians including Steny Hoyer and get the story out publicly of the success of CPCS
• How the Kerwin formula will be applied is still in discussion, but at this time, not sure how it will translate down to CPCS. |
